Penwith Environmental Network is a nonpolitical charitable trust established in 1982. Our objective is to promote the conservation, protection and improvement of our natural environment, and to educate and inform the public in all related matters. PEN is network of sites and people dedicated to raising awareness of environmental issues in Penwith. As a positive action group, we work with like-minded organisations and aim to support what works and find solutions for what does not. Your membership helps to provide, sustain and enhance these activities. Members receive discounts for our workshops and other events, are welcome to attend all meetings, and, for those with the time, we have a number of working groups focusing on specific local environmental issues, growing a more environmentally aware and sustainable future for the community.
